

Reviso

Cloud-based software for efficient company accounting management

Designed for

Enterprises

Start-ups

What you can do with Reviso

Management of orders, offers and invoices

Quickly issue and send by e-mail orders, offers, invoices and other types of documents. Once issued, moreover, the invoices are automatically registered in your records.

Management of accounting activities

You can register purchase and sale invoices, manage proceeds and payments, check your bank account through bank reconciliation statements and produce accounting reports. You can also make multi-currency registrations.

Modules for expanding software functions

At any time you can expand the functions of your application, by adding the modules that meet your needs (e.g.: budget reclassification, accounting budgets and responsibility centers).

Multi-country and multi-user software

You can manage the accounting of your businesses, even if located abroad. Also, with multi-user access, you can choose whom to share your company data with, assigning to each user a different visibility level.

Corporate projects planning

The projects management module allows you to quickly check all asset movements occurring in the company (production of goods, job order services, domestic assets) defining costs and income, processing hours and expenses incurred.

Are you a chartered accountant?

Use Reviso together with your clients and have direct access to their records

Thanks to the multi-user and collaborative nature of the software, you can give support in the management of your clients' accounting activities and provide the best advice they could need.

Thanks to Reviso the relationship with your companies becomes easy, quick and immediate.

Advantages

Maximum cooperation with the chartered accountant

Reviso improves your relationship with your chartered accountant: it allows your company to be flanked constantly by the C.A. in accounting activities and makes sure you choose the consultant most suited to your needs.

Efficient management of the accounting activities

Reviso allows you to efficiently manage the accounting activities of your company: You can create and send an invoice in just 1 minute and, after generating the document, the accounting entry is made simultaneously.

Direct connections with other applications

Connect Reviso to other IT systems of your company (CRM, Ecommerce, etc.) and exchange data relating to customers, suppliers, products, prices, payments and much more.
No more worries with the automatic updating and entry of data.

All the advantages of Cloud-based software

Thanks to the servers geolocalized in various parts of the world, security and integrity are guaranteed. And what's more, you don't need to do any installing and updates are automatic. You can access the platform from any device at any time.

Documents and corporate reports always accessible

Acquire and classify documents (invoices, receipts, expense reports, etc.) directly from e-mails, PDF or via your smartphone. Together with your corporate reports, they are always available for viewing from any device.

Feedback

Thanks to Reviso I can access the data of my company even when I am abroad and I can very easily check my margin on sales. With Reviso, managing my accounting activities has become much more efficient than before.

I recommend it!

Salvo Conti

Owner of Conserve Conti di Longo N.&C. S.A.S.

In Reviso what I appreciated immediately was its ease of use and intuitiveness.

The platform interface is designed very well and the functions are easily reachable. It completely meets my business needs.

Janet Allen

Owner of the professional association Riabilita

Reviso is a highly valid platform for accounting management. Supplier entry is made much easier by the automatic compiling of the fields. This is a function not offered by other tools and that considerably saves time.
